WALHALLA, S. C.:

Friday Morning, May 21, 1869.

On New York on Monday last, the 17th, Cotton was selling at 28 1/2 per pound. Gold, 41 1/2.

Attention is directed to the Advertisement of Maj. J. H. WHITNER, Real Estate Agent. By the advertisement it will be seen that he has a number of desirable Town Lots and valuable Farms for sale.

Personal.

We had the pleasure last week of meeting in the "Courier office" with E. R. STOKES of Columbia, who is on a visit to the up-country, in the interest of his business as a manufacturer of blank books, book binder &c. We have had some dealings with his house in the past and can testify to the neatness and punctuality with which his work is executed. Attention is called to his card published in another column.

Taken Up.

A youth (white) named Garrett was brought to Walhalla on the 13th inst., charged with breaking into and stealing from the House of Morgan Bryce of this County, upwards of One Hundred dollars. The larceny was committed on Sunday while Mr. Bryce and family were attending church. The boy confessed the crime and restored the entire amount of money. While a warrant was being prepared the sly rogue stepped off without any word of adieu, and has not been since seen or heard from.

Public Buildings.

The citizens of Oconee County will be pleased to learn that the contract for the erection of the Public Buildings at Walhalla, has been so modified as to require the building of a new brick Court House instead of removing the old Court House of Pickens District. The new building is to be two stories high with the same dimensions as the old Court House, and arranged generally after the same plan, a passage running lengthwise in the lower story and the public offices opening on each side into the passage, three on the one hand and four on the other. The Jail is to be built of wood. The Buildings are to be completed by the 1st of March 1870, with the condition, that the Court Room shall be temporarily fitted up for the November term of the Court for Oconee County. Messrs. REID and WILSON, who erected the Public buildings for Pickens are the contractors, at the sum of $8,000, they taking the assets arising from the sale of the lots and private subscription as payment pro tanto.

False Economy.

There is no error more common in the world than that of buying cheap articles as a measure of economy. If the article be a coat or dress pattern, the purchaser must pay as much for the cutting, making and trimming as for completing a good article, and as these items constitute half the cost of every garment, it follows that the material representing the other half should be of good quality. To buy a good article where it can be had cheap is true economy. In this connection we invite the attention of the trading public to the advertisement of C. L. REID & Co., in this issue. They claim that their select stock of goods combining in quality, "the beautiful the fashionable and the durable," can and will be sold at as low prices, as the same class of goods can be afforded in any retail market. Call and examine their stock and prices.

A Good Opportunity.

Good teeth are essential requisites to health and whenever these have become decayed or lost in the course of nature, the Dentist is a valuable friend to us. Drs. ZACHARY and SIMMONS, inform the public that they have opened an office over the store of the Messrs. FAIRER, where they will fill or extract decayed teeth, and make new sets after the latest improvements for such as wish them. Give them a call.

Important to Farmers.

The May number of the "Carolina Farmer" is on our table. Like all its predecessors, it is handsomely printed, and filled with a large number of interesting and sensible articles. We are glad to learn from the proprietor that the "Farmer" is a decided success, its patronage already being much larger than his most sanguine expectations had predicted. Published monthly, at Wilmington, N. C., by Wm. H. BERNARD, Terms, $2.00 per year. Specimen copies sent on receipt of stamp for postage.

The Supreme Court will sit in Charleston on Monday, the 24th inst., for the purpose of hearing appeals from the First Circuit.

May Party.

The even tenor of Walhalla life was agreeably disturbed by a May Party, at the Female Seminary on the evening of the 18th instant. Through the favor of the Principal we were present by invitation, though unfortunately, too late, from necessary detention, to witness the grand pageant of crowning the Queen. The "Royal Hall" was decorated with flowers and evergreens, interwoven and arranged with that taste and neatness which besom the fair hands of the daughters of men, and the entire performances (we learn) were conducted with perfect order and propriety, and to the satisfaction of all. The attendance, notwithstanding the unfavorable aspect of the weather, was large beyond expectation, representing the various seasons of life, spring, summer, autumn and winter. A splendid supper had been prepared by general contribution which we doubt not, was heartily relished by those bold and fortunate enough to press their way to the table. This "irrepressible pressure" could not be avoided, for though the house was large and every arrangement had been made for the accommodation of the guests, yet the popularity of the institution and the novelty of a "real live Queen," in republican America, brought out the whole Adamic (white) race of this section. After a hearty repast, "the young folks, and old folks with young hearts," repaired to a neighboring dwelling for a "hop," which was protracted until the small hours of the night began to grow. It was a season of enjoyment, not more pleasant than serviceable to the pupils, and gratifying to the parents who patronize the institution.

One word as to the merits, extrinsic and intrinsic, of this institution. As to the former, one great object, is its ease of approach by Railroad being but one day's journey from the chief and most remote city of our State, and proportionally nearer to other parts of the country penetrated by branch Roads.—This is a very desirable thing to parents who send their daughters to boarding schools, for though widely separated by distance they are near to each other in time. The Healthy location of the school, at the foot of the Blue Ridge, where the pure mountain water and atmosphere are enjoyed; The beautiful and varied scenery in the distance and the flourishing town of Walhalla with its hard gray streets to interest the mind during the exercise of the body, all add to its desirableness. Here too are churches and preaching every Saturday and Sunday, the Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Lutheran denominations all being represented by organized churches and ministers. Intrinsically the merits of the institution can compare favorably with any of the kind in the State. The institution is under charge of the Misses MORGAN, ladies of reputation for superior acquirements in the various useful and ornamental branches of female education as well as for the strict moral discipline enjoined upon the pupils. The higher branches of the English language, French Music Drawing &c. are all taught at very reasonable prices.—Board is fabulously cheap and everything combines to make the institution a most desirable one for parents having daughters to educate. We are pleased to learn it now numbers eighty scholars and has a growing popularity.

Public Meeting.

The attention of the citizens of Oconee County is directed to a notice (in another column) of a public meeting to be held at Walhalla on Monday the 7th day of June next "to take such steps as may be necessary to form a county Agricultural and Mechanical Society." This is a matter of such grave importance and general interest as to need no word of approval or commendation from us. Every one is aware that numerous and radical changes have been, and are being made in the industrial pursuits of the South. Statistics of products now realized per acre as compared with those of the past, demonstrate that these changes are improvements on the old systems, and whether we are to be benefited by these improvements will depend principally on ourselves. If we stand aloof while our sister counties are gathering knowledge from mutual experience and interchange of ideas, we will be distanced in this our chief occupation. The surest and speediest road to successful and progressive improvement in any pursuit arises from free discussion and mutual assistance. The county society is a radiating center from which practical information in farm economy and production is diffused throughout the county. Farmers have never properly appreciated the dignity and importance of their calling. They have always underrated the educational qualifications necessary to good farming. As a class, they have been modest and retiring and though constituting the chief element of national wealth, they have seldom sought or obtained practical representation in the state or national councils. They are interested above everything in the success of the present efforts to exalt Agriculture from a menial occupation to its true position as an acknowledged Science. We are not farmers or mechanics, but in our early days we were trained to the use of the plough and hoe, and when with the new lights in agriculture we compare the old system with the present, we are amazed at the blind prejudice and ignorance which have so long crippled this branch of industry. In mechanics, too, there has been too much "Conservatism," but as a class this branch of industry has shown more progress than Agriculture. Mechanics generally serve an apprenticeship for their trades.—In this way by proper instruction, they become passable cobblers in three years, but the idea of inventing, perfecting and erecting machinery for the development of the manufacturing interests of the State has been a fruitless dream. While nature has abundantly favored our section in water powers, timber and minerals, we have been content to stand on the threshold of mechanical Science, while others enjoy the rich fruits of its production. Our inferiority in mechanical ingenuity and the want of a perfect system of Agriculture contributed more to the overthrow of the confederacy than the superior numerical strength of the north. To be ready for every emergency demands in fact the highest excellence in the Physical Sciences. This excellence can only be attained by mutual instruction. Man is an imitative animal and the knowledge of one generation is the starting point of the next. Such has been the course of human nature from the day our first parents covered their nakedness with fig leaves to the present period of comfort and elegance in dress. Every improvement has been slowly and cautiously received. There has been little life or effort towards advancement until lately.—Now a whole people are bending their intellectual energies in the laudable effort to reconvert the country by a sound practical course of Agricultural and mechanical industry.—Just as there is wisdom in multitude of counselors, so there is success in a multitude of well directed efforts. To collect the useful knowledge thus derived and disseminate it among the people is the object of the present proposed organization. It cannot fail of good results and merits the earnest support of every well wisher of the country.

Real Estate Record.

Messrs. KEES & McCULLY, Real Estate Agents at Anderson C. H., S. C., have published the first number of their Quarterly under the above title. They propose to rent, lease or sell, at the option of the owner, for a reasonable compensation, lands situated in this State, and described in their Circular.—This is a new business in the South, and one likely to operate as a great convenience to settlers and immigrants. Before they start out on their journey, or when they arrive, they know they can find here Plans and descriptions of lands for sale, and agents authorized to sell. It in this way operates not only as a convenience to the seller in bringing his lands prominently before the public but also to the purchaser as affording a sure source of information in the real estate market. It thus encourages immigration and promotes general prosperity. The first number contains in addition to description of various tracts of land in this State and Anderson Counties, commendatory letters from Hons. J. L. Orr, B. F. Perry and J. P. Reid as to the soil climate and health of the country and its condition of civil and political quietude and security. We wish these gentlemen a full measure of success in their new and patriotic undertaking.

Peter's Musical Monthly

For May is to hand, and well sustains the proud title it bears—"The Prince of Musical Mouthpieces," for if there is any one periodical adapted to suit the wants of all Lovers of Music, professional or amateur, it is certainly this Magazine. The May number comes to us overflowing with Choice New Music. There are four New Songs, by Hays, Thomas, Danks, and Eaton; three Piano Pieces; and we notice a new feature in the shape of six pages of Quartet Music, which will prove a valuable addition; also, a dozen or more pages of Biographical Sketches and Reviews of New Music, that will be of interest to all Musicians. Being largely engaged in the publication of Sheet Music, Mr. Peters has always a fresh stock from which to make his selections, and secures nothing loth to draw from his resources to any required extent to make the Monthly what it should be. Besides the Musical Sketches and Reviews of New Music, each number contains no less than thirty full-sized pages of New Music by the best writers in the country.

When Music is furnished so cheap, what Musicians can afford to be without such a publication? $4 worth of good Music cannot be picked up every day for 30 cents, and we feel justified in saying that a subscription at $3 will give as much Music (and good Music, too,) as you can buy for $50.

This valuable Magazine is published by J. L. PETERS, 198 Broadway, New-York, (P. O. Box 5420.)

the Constitution passed the Convention which met in Richmond, Virginia, on Tuesday, the 3d day of December, 1867, to the voters of said State, registered at the date of such submission, viz: July 6th, 1869, for ratification or rejection; and I submit to a separate vote the fourth clause of section 1, article III, of said Constitution, which is in the following words: (Insert the disqualification clause.) And also submit to a separate vote the 17th section of article III of the said Constitution, which is in the words following (insert text oath clause.) I direct the vote to be taken upon each of the above provisions alone, and upon the other portions of the said Constitution in the following manner, viz: Each voter favoring the ratification of the constitution excluding the provisions above quoted, as framed by the Convention of December 3, 1867, shall express his judgment by voting "For the Constitution." Each voter favoring the rejection of the Constitution, excluding the provisions above quoted, shall express his judgment by voting "Against the Constitution." Each voter will be allowed to cast a separate ballot for or against either, or both of the provisions above quoted.

RICHMOND, VA., May 17.—In the suit against the city of Richmond, to make her redeem her small notes to the amount of $100,000, issued during the war, Chief Justice Chase decided that, having been issued to aid the rebellion, they cannot be redeemed. The Legislature which authorized their issue was de facto a Legislature, and had power to grant such authority; and had the notes been issued for any legal purpose, and not for the subversion of the Government, they would be liable to redemption.
